

Getting to Harrisville by Car

Harrisville is located on a loop off Route 101 between Marlborough and Dublin, New Hampshire, very near the village of Dublin. It is about 2 hours from Boston, MA and 2 hours from Hartford, CT. It is about 5 hours from New York City.

From the North (VT/NH border area) I-91

Take I-91 to Exit 6 (Bellows Falls, VT).

Then take Route 5 South to Bellows Falls.

In Bellows Falls, take a left to NH Route 12 South.

Take Route 12 south to Route 9 East (Concord, NH).

*Pass through East Sullivan (note the general store on the right).

About 2 miles after passing the general store, watch for the Nelson & Harrisville exit on your right.

Take this exit and turn right at bottom of the exit ramp.

Take next left onto Nelson Road.

Follow Nelson Road for about 6 miles into Harrisville.

The Weaving Center is the second brick building on your left, after you pass the red barn. It is at the corner of Main and Prospect Streets.

From the North (Eastern NH) I-89

Take I-89 to Route 10 to Route 9, then follow the directions listed after *.

From the North I-93 and I-89

Take I-93 South to I-89 North to Route 202 West toward Henniker and Keene to Route 9 West.

Follow Route 9 toward Keene, exiting at Nelson and Harrisville.

Follow directions from  listed above.

From Southeast (Boston, MA/Logan Airport) I-93

Exit through the Callahan Tunnel, then pick up I-93 North almost immediately as you exit the tunnel. Stay on I-93 North for about 10 miles, then take the exit for Route 95/128 South (Exit 38S/Waltham). Continue for about 6 miles on Route 95 South. Pick up Route 3 North (Nashua, NH). Travel north to Nashua (about 20-25 miles).

Take Exit 8 to 101-A West. From here (101-A) follow from  below.

From the East (Nashua) Route 101

 Take Route 101-A to Milford, then take Route 101 West toward Peterborough and then continue on 101 to Dublin.

Just past Yankee Magazine (the red building on the right) is the Dublin Fire Station. Turn right here on to New Harrisville Road.

It is about 4 miles from Harrisville. Coming up the hill into Harrisville Center, you will pass some old granite and red brick mill buildings on your right. Then at the crest of the hill you will see Harrisville Designs, The Knitting and Weaving Center on your right at the corner of Main and Prospect Streets.

From the Southwest (Brattleboro, VT to Keene, NH), I-91

Take I-91 North to Exit 3.

Take Route 9 East to Keene, NH. At first stoplight, continue straight to Route 101 East. After the town of Marlborough, the road becomes a double lane for several miles. When the road turns back into a single lane, look for Audrey's Café on your left and signs for Harrisville and Chesham. Turn left after Audrey's Café onto Chesham Road. It will be about 4 miles on this road to Harrisville Center. The Knitting and Weaving Center is the second brick building on your left after you pass the red barn, at the corner of Main and Prospect Streets.
